

TRANSITING JUPITER CONJUNCT NATAL SUN

Unless there are several other factors making challenging transits to your natal Sun or your natal Sun is in extremely challenging condition in the natal chart, the transit from Jupiter conjunct the Sun is considered advantageous and will prove beneficial to you while in contact. It is imperative that the natal chart be fully studied when researching the transits to natal positions in the chart.

The transit of Jupiter to the Sun is one of those aspects that we wait for. Jupiter tends to expand on things and add positive influences on what we are attempting to accomplish. It brings good luck, opportunities for advancement and with the Sun involved in the equation, our path in life can be highlighted, along with our goals in life and who we are internally is subject towards progress and development. We will have a chance to take an honest look at who we are and can now without too much interference build on what we like within to expand to the outside of our personality.

Our goals in life are now subject to expansion, and we may find that what we are trying to achieve becomes easier to work towards. At times things just seem to fall into place, offering opportunities that might not have been present prior to this time. What we have been working towards now seems to be open and we can advance as never before. The rest of the chart must be studied to see just how fortunate this time might be and what opportunities lie ahead.

In its outward expression Jupiter can bring fortunate conditions and great rewards for the efforts we put forth into our objectives. Much will depend on the houses involved as they define the areas of life. Jupiter can place an emphasis on self-motivation, and you will need to apply yourself for the best results. Opportunity awaits those that pursue their goals and ideals.

The Sun has to do with goals in life and often part of that goal has to do with our advancement in our objectives and in some cases our occupation. If by chance the placement of your Sun resides close to the Midheaven then opportunities likely arise around advancement in career or life objectives. For those with this in the birth chart, you may find recognition for your effort to move ahead, or public support or acknowledgement at this time. The midheaven is a very public place along with the Ascendant and similar potential lies with those that have their Sun tied to their Ascendant.

This is a highly favourable aspect, and this period could have profound effects on inner as well as outer growth. Make sure you take advantage of the energies.
