

JUPITER OPPOSITION NATAL PLUTO

Transiting Jupiter often brings with it opportunities for growth and expansion. In some cases, it can speak of religious inclinations, spirituality, life's philosophy and good luck in obtaining these things moving forward or increasing their importance.

Jupiter often opens the door. Although with the Opposition on our focal aspect of Jupiter Opposition natal Pluto, there will likely be some resistance or conflict involved with moving in your intended direction. Quite often with the Opposition aspect, other people will be involved in events, and they may put up some challenge before you can reach your goal. They may be opposing your decisions, trying to control the situation or making suggestions that you might not want to follow.

Quite often important people, like authority figures, are what Pluto can represent. People in positions of power perhaps are not allowing you the freedom you need to move in your intended direction. There may be power struggles and arguments which can become quite intense but usually the potential to make your way through these struggles is heightened because of Jupiter's beneficial energies.

Jupiter often promotes good luck, easy flow and opportunities but in this case, you will have to work hard and commit to finding ways to accentuate your positive outcomes. It will likely not be an easy time, but worth the effort in the end.

The closer your Opposition is to being direct, the stronger the influence. The houses involved in your Astrology chart will be of prime importance. Transformations and regeneration in the areas involved particularly the natal house position of Pluto will take place. You will have noticed throughout life when your Pluto is activated by transit that the particular area of life involved will be subject to change and often quite dynamic change. There are no halfway measures when it comes to Pluto's energies, and often something must come to an end before something new is allowed to take place.

This may be quite personal in nature if your first or seventh house is part of the equation and would likely involve an important relationship like your spouse or in some cases a business partner with this example. There may be aggressive interaction between an open enemy or in some cases legalities take hold especially when Jupiter (if Natal Pluto is in the first house) makes a quincunx and is in the eighth house suggesting joint matters are involved.

A professional can be of assistance during these trying moments. They will have insight that might be hidden to you or that you, in the past, where resistance to take in.

Jupiter Opposition Natal Pluto is a challenging aspect but will work in your favor as time passes although the journey will not be an easy one. Be persistent and push forward.
