

JUPITER CONJUNCT NATAL JUPITER

This Transit of Jupiter takes place once every twelve years. This is when it returns to its original natal position and expands on the energies of the other Natal planets that are making aspects to its natal position. Much will depend on how natal Jupiter is aspected and its natal potential.

It is a consensus that during transiting Jupiter conjunct natal Jupiter it will be an enlightening time in most people's lives.

Jupiter expands what it touches, brings with it opportunities, easy flow especially where natal aspects are in easy flow (Trines and Sextiles) to its position. What it will bring under most conditions is an opportunity to blend the energy together creating growth and expansion to what is taking hold in your life. This is particularly true with those individuals around the age of 60, as these people are subjected to the energies of their second Saturn return.

In some cases, individuals prefer to travel, often long distant travel under this conjunction depending on the age of the recipient and the financial situation. Good luck may enter the picture and although they may not have thought that this would be a good time in their lives, it just might work out that way.

You may seek out expansive projects or enjoy the wide-open spaces and generally feel fortunate about your life's conditions even if prior to this time things may not have been optimistic. Your perspective might change, and you may look at life from a different vantage point. Life's philosophy is subject to change and in some cases religious doctrines come into play. Spirituality is also a possibility, and an awakening of some sort is quite possible especially if Uranus, Pluto or Neptune are involved in the equation.

In some cases, you just feel at ease, and you decide to do very little with the energies available under this aspect, even if you think that you should use these energies to your benefit. This, of course, is in the hands of each individual. It is suggested, however, that you push ahead while the getting is good and the energies are available. Good luck is a byproduct and easy flow and golden opportunities, in some cases, await those that press forward. Don't overdo it and expect the unexpected, however.

Again, the general theme of the Natal Chart plays a significant role in this twelve-year cycle of the Jupiter return, as does the house position of Natal Jupiter. The house position and natal applications will define how these energies might present themselves as well as the areas of life that it may take place.

Transiting Jupiter conjunct Natal Jupiter is an enlightening period. If you utilize the energies, expansion and easy flow are at hand. This is a fortunate period.
