

NEPTUNE SEXTILE NATAL MIDHEAVEN

Transiting Neptune sextile natal Midheaven (MC) speaks directly to creativity connected to goals in life, your life's path and your career. This is a positive aspect which insists on assistance from outside resources in reaching your personal goals. In some cases, this can be quite spiritual in nature due to Neptune's influence. It can also be linked to creativity, such as a musician writing a song and finding inspiration in the process that might not have been available prior to this time.

Neptune's inspirational nature can add creative flow to music, acting, and anything connected to visualization or psychic energies. Meditating on how you want to proceed with your endeavors is highly suggested. You likely will get insight into how to move forward in ways that you could never have imagined previously. It is as though a helping hand is guiding you, and you get positive feedback from your efforts.

If this is related to your career, you will find that your ideas seem to flow more easily and people may listen and even move ahead with what you are suggesting. Perhaps, for instance, you are putting together a presentation setting out ways to increase productivity. Now would be the time to make this suggestion and others will likely pay heed. Without your utilizing these energies and just sitting back thinking about what a good idea might be, the potential for this energy coming to fruition is unlikely. Often it is up to you to make things happen. Do not wait for things to fall into your lap and waste the opportunity.

If your goals in life or path forward have to do with the psychic world, this would be the time to invest some of your valuable time towards going deeper. The potential for in-depth analysis is quite possible under these conditions. Meditation is suggested as mentioned and asking for assistance from deeper sources will likely open doors that otherwise might have been closed. Depending on your stage of development, it is quite possible for those that are already on this path that they find inspiration and ingrained knowledge surfacing under this aspect.

Much will depend on which houses are involved and how Natal Neptune is aspected by other natal planets. Always look at the Natal potential and other transits to get the full picture on how this will transpire in your life.

While transiting Neptune is making a sextile to your Natal MC, it is also making a trine to your Natal IC. As a result, the home and family will also be quite involved as will possibly one or both of your parents.

Transiting Neptune Sextile natal Midheaven aligns your career or life's path with your intuition and creativity. Use the energy available wisely!

This articles is not AI generated.