

NEPTUNE SEXTILE NATAL VENUS

Sextiles (60° aspect) are known to be beneficial, opportunistic, workable aspects especially when we apply ourselves to whatever opportunity is at hand.

Venus is often linked to love and affection. In some cases, it deals with social interactions and is also tied to finances.

The energy of Neptune can last for several years because of its slow movement through the Zodiac. Check an ephemeris to check transiting Neptune's movements, allowing an orb of 5° approaching and 2° separating, to know when you will feel these energies beginning to enhance your Venus when contact is made. The tighter the orb the stronger the influence.

Neptune can be dreamy and vague at times, and it is suggested that you take a reality check when it is applying to any planet, although the Sextile and Trine usually suggest valid applications.

When transiting Neptune sextiles natal Venus in your chart, this may be the time you meet the person of your dreams. Love can grow at a rapid speed, especially if Mars is somehow attached to the connection. Make sure you are seeing the person in their true light as you may put them on a pedestal without even being aware of it. You could have blinders on, but it may also be very real. You can rely on your intuition, and you need to listen carefully to what it is telling you.

There is the potential for excessive drug and alcohol use during this time, and it suggested that you steer clear, as this is likely to make the fascination even stronger and less reliable. It will already appear as a fantasy so let's make sure that what we are feeling is as real as it can be.

Social activities may also be highlighted during this time, and there might be something rather magical about how it unfolds. It can be a fun time for everyone although partying can be a little excessive. Have fun but don't overdo it.

If this relates to your finances, once again, don't dream. Make sure that what you see is real and the opportunity that awaits you is also not only promising but actually has the potential to expand and grow as you invest yourself in the process. Finances may improve unexpectedly especially if Uranus is involved. If Jupiter is involved, there may be a feeling that you can't go wrong, and if Mars is involved, it is suggested that you take a second look and go slowly. Mars wants to rush but you must resist the temptation.

Regardless of what this might entail, as the houses involved will identify, transiting Neptune sextile natal Venus is considered a valid, opportunistic period. Follow your gut instincts.

This article is not AI generated.